Appreciate the Colors of the Earth

Appreciate the Colors of the Earth

Small rapeseed flowers grow from the soil, covering the entire land. While the coquettish posture of calla lilies is lovable in springtime, the fragrance of sweet-scented cosmoses rain in the air reminds us the coming of Mid-Autumn Festival, together with family reunion. Taiwan, located in the subtropics, manifests the exuberant vitality of nature through the fragrance and vivid colors of flowers. Let us visit the gardens and farms situated in countryside and urban areas of Taiwan and appreciate the featured floral spectacles drawn meticulously by the seasons.

Every March when the spring season arrives, while azaleas and cherry blossoms vie with one another in beauty in Yangmingshan in northern Taiwan, cotton trees and golden trumpet-trees burst out like an explosion in southern Chiayi and Tainan regions. The remarkable, incomparable Taiwan International Orchid Show is also welcoming its grand opening during that same period; the romantic Chinese wisterias in April, the calla lilies of Yangmingshan keep up their spirits, the wild lilies on Turtle Island salute the arrival of spring, as the tung blossoms begin to snow in May in Taoyuan, Hsinchu and Miaoli areas, the poetic scene appears everywhere on this land: the gold rain brought by golden shower trees in June is accompanied by hydrangeas and lotus flowers which greet the guests in a graceful and dignified manner; while sunflowers are getting ready to meet summer season in July, large-flowered thunbergias are building flower corridors along the way; the land of East Rift Valley is covered with golden-yellow orange daylilies from August to September; the silver grasses will be in full flower on the way of Caoling Historic Trail in the invigorating, sparkling autumn when it comes to the month of October; in November as the deciduous cypresses in all parts of the country start to discolor on after another, the hidden utopias will always be teemed with crowds; from December to February of the following year, various kinds green manures including rapeseed, sunflowers, and cosmoses flourish to fill up the severe winter season with enthusiasm. Both Taichung Xinshe and the Coastal Range are falling into the sea of flowers in doves.

Orchid All

Orchidaceae are plants with most abundant of species in the plant kingdom (about 20,000 species). With exception to the extremely cold polar or dry desert environments, orchids can be seen in almost every ecological environment on earth. Due to its uniquely shaped flowers, its high ornamental value and its adaptability to different environments, there are many species of orchid plants, and the size of the plants and flowers vary greatly. Orchids are an important ornamental flower in horticulture, products are mainly divided into leafy boat orchids and floral orchids, such as Moth orchids and Venus slippers.

Tulip Jan-Mar

Tulips take 4-5 months from the corn sprouting to flowering, and the temperature and light needs to be strictly managed, which is very complicated. Therefore, it is best to buy potted tulips that have already sprouted leaves from its corn from a shop. The tulips flowering period is very long, generally 3-4 weeks, common colors are red, yellow, orange, white, purple, pink with various colors inlays, stripes or patterns.

Lupine Feb-Mar

The Lupine is native to southern Europe, in recent years, horticulture has cultivated colorful new varieties such as pink, purple and white. Every year from the end of February to March, yellowish Lupines are in full bloom among the tea trees, becoming little dots of stars among the tea gardens. Lupine provides the best nutrients for the land after it withers, just like the Hakka mother's dedication and inheritance to the family, and is regarded as the "Hakka mother flower."

Sunflower All

There are many varieties of sunflowers. There are single petals, double petals or single flowers and multi- flowers when it comes to flower types. Although the color of the flowers are mainly yellow and orange, there are also deep red petals with golden edges, copper flower and two-tone golden yellow, even white and other special variants; because sunflowers have noticeable phototropism properties, it seems to be facing the sun, that is why it is called the sunflower. After the flower withers, the central disc produces seeds. Most of the land in Penglai is quite dry and is exposed to sunlight for most of the year, so they chose the sunflower which resembles the sun to be their national flowers.

Magnolia All

Because of its pleasant aroma, it has always been a favorite of Taiwanese people, and the first thing people associate them with in Taiwan is a hawk who wraps herself up in a headscarf moving between dangerous car formations at the intersection; magnolia is mainly produced in the area around Pingtung's Gaoshi and Yungku. At 6:30 in the evening, as the sky gets darker, the aroma of magnolia fills the rural paths, it summons the farmers to begin a day's harvest. Because of its short flowering period, blossoming only for one day, once you miss the time of harvest, it will rapidly wither away the next day.

Oriental Plum Blossom Jan-Feb

The Oriental plum blossoms that bloom after the plum blossoms, cover hillsides like white snow, often competing with the cherry blossoms. Its appearance is a bit like a cherry blossom, fine little pieces, hazy, and clustered white, but the petals have no gaps, and the bark possesses no horizontal stripes, the stamens, petals, and leaves are small and thin, then it is most likely an Oriental plum blossom. When the Oriental plum blossom is in bloom, it attracts bees to collect nectar and butterflies to transmit pollen, the natural way of life is not only suitable for traveling and enjoying the Sea of Oriental plum blossom, but also suitable for arranging a flower ecological journey.

Cherry Blossom Jan-Apr

Commonly known as the Taiwanese Mountain Sakura, it is the most common cherry blossom in Taiwan. It has the most brilliant colors within all of the cherry blossoms, the flower is shaped like hanging bells, the species is divided into single petal or multi-petal. The single petal plants will bloom in December, multi-petal plants are also known as Ya Sakura or Peony Sakura, in addition to that the single-petal Taiwan cherry also has a kind of Formosan cherry planted near Zhuzhiu in Taiwan, its color is lighter than the average Formosan cherry with a later flowering period. Every spring, cherry blossoms spread over the entire area of Alishan, which attracts a large number of people on a pilgrimage. The flowers mainly include Formosan cherry, Yoshino cherry and Ya Sakura. Thousands of cherry blossoms will blossom after the Yoshino Sakura "Sakura King" in front of the Alishan Workstation's arrival.

Armenian Plum Blossom Feb

January cherry February apricot, in this gorgeous flowery world, there is a tea like aroma that fills the mountain, there are also seas of pink flowers in the mountains, apricot flowers are an ancient flower and tree, in addition to flowers can also bear fruit, it holds an important position both in fruit production and urban beautification. In Taiwan, folk architecture and temple buildings often use apricot flowers as works of art. For example, the storefront archway facade of Daxi Old Street is often decorated with carving of vases with peach and apricot flowers. The peachy represents wealth, and the apricot flower represents academic success, inserted in a vase to represent "wealth and academic success." The apricot flower in full bloom is rich in color, rich in rouge, and like the spring breeze, suitable for planting and displaying, the "Apricot Flower Forest" of Maokong has from February to March every year the apricot flower blooming season.

Pink Poui Mar-Apr

The Brazilian national flower, it is a tree that changes it's looks as the seasons change. In spring, branches are sparse and bear yellow flowers; in summer long leaves bear pods; if you are fortunate, you can also see the surprise flight of a samara; autumn leaves flourish in a patch green; winter's withered branches and fallen leaves show a desolate beauty. Spring, summer, autumn and winter show different flavors, it blooms in the spring around March, and the corolla is funnel-shaped, kind of like a bell-shaped wind chime, the flower edge is crumpled, but it is a flower with symmetry on both sides, with bright yellow flowers. Planted on both sides of the Qinhui pond, towering upright, with a good view, be careful not to touch the fine hair on the flowers and fruits, otherwise it will tickle.
